Bwindi Lodge overlooks the spectacular primeval Bwindi Impenetrable Forest, home to gorillas, monkeys, chimpanzees and birds. Amidst the many noises of forest life, Bwindi Lodge is the perfect place to experience the magic of this impenetrable forest. The tented camp that was there previously has now been replaced by a newly-built, stunning eco-lodge comprising eight bandas, where guests can relax with a massage after gorilla trekking.

The Bwindi Lodge bandas have thatched roofs and private verandahs. The verandahs provide its guests with excellent views and gorillas, chimpanzees and birds can often be heard screeching near the river below. The bandas are comfortably equipped with twin beds, a vanity area, coffee table, en-suite shower and toilet. The showers are of an eco-friendly design consisting of a large canvas bucket with water provided by the lodge staff. The thatched open-sided bar and dining area contains a fabulous log fireplace which provides a cozy and warm gathering area with excellent views of the surrounding forest.
