Berber Palace is a kasbah-style hotel offering 5 star luxury while retaining traditional Moroccan and berber touches. The hotel is located in the city of Ouarzazate, with its rich history, mosques, kasbahs and shops which has found more recent renown as a film location using its Saharan location to great effect. The hotel displays a variety of costumes and props that have been used in recent productions. The hotel has all the modern amenities to be expected in a 5 star establishment. Each of the rooms and suites is air conditioned and has an ensuite bathroom, TV, phone, minibar and private terrace or patio.

There is a large swimming pool surrounded by decks with loungers and sunshades. For more active guests there are 3 tennis courts and a gym. Further afield, the hotel can arrange 4x4 excursions into the Sahara Desert or the Atlas Mountains, where trekking, camel riding and mountain biking can be enjoyed. For those wanting to be pampered, the fitness centre has a traditional hammam, jacuzzi and sauna and massages are available.

A range of cuisines is catered for. 'La Maison Arabe' is the main restaurant and offers predominantly Moroccan dishes, served in a traditional setting. 'L'Oasis' boasts lavish buffets based French and international influences, while tasty Italian style snacks are served in 'Tablepizza' by the swimming pool. There is a pool bar, a cosy piano bar and a comfortable lounge with fire place for the cooler desert evenings. Other facilities include a library, shop, hairdresser and internet access.
